Epiphany are ready to release their first single.

Ready for road to stardom

Fresh and funky local band, Epiphany, has recently recorded their first single, Place Called Home, and is ready to present their first piece of work to the public.

Started in December, Epiphany is the brainchild of Valentino van der Schyff (lead male vocal) and Tina Gordon (lead female vocal). The two had already played together and decided to start a new band that would play both covers and originals.

They met with Bradley Adams (lead guitar) who suggested the idea of a six-piece.

Having worked on the idea since mid-2012, Tina and Valentino asked Bradley for help put a band together and so, Waldo Samuels

(bass guitar), Angelo Bagley (keyboard and synthesizer) and Julian D Maree (drums) joined the fold.

Within their first months of rehearsals, the band quickly became a tight act, adding songs to their repertoire.

Since the beginning of January this year, Epiphany has been performing across Cape Town. The band says they are able to play an array of music and accept song requests ahead of scheduled gigs.

► For more information about Epiphany, visit their Facebook Page or follow them on Twitter. For bookings, call Godwin Abrahams on 082 634 9218 Valentino van der Schyff on 071 902 5535.

Falling Mirror will be back in action for one night only at the Barnyard Theatre.

Johnny calls chemist again

South African 80s band, Falling Mirror, will reunite to perform at Barnyard Theatre, Willowbridge on Sunday 28 April.

Imagine what a cross between Bob Dylan, Jim Morrison and Rodriguez would sound like, throw in Mark Knopfler and The Stones and you are close to the sound of Falling Mirror.

Remember "Johnny Calls the Chemist" and "Neutron Bop" that made number one spots and received recognition in America? Well, "Johnny's Back!", albeit for one night only to rev up the rock and as part of a major international documentary that will capture the band's reconnection with their audience and tell their unique rock story.

Founding band members and cousins, Allan Faull (lead guitar) and vocalist Nielen

Mirror (the band name is a play on their surnames) together with drummer Patrick Humphries were known as a non-performing, inordinately introspective group whose debut album Zen Boulders equalled the world's best upon release and gained a cult following in SA.

Now joined by George Den Das (keyboards) and Harvey Cohen (bass guitar), Faull together with Humphries' rock-firm percussive patterns and Nielen Mirror's bold, captivating voice and lyrics makes this one-night-only live performance a rarity and a must-see.
